Description

- The career fair is one of many exciting activities scheduled as part of the Wharton Africa Business Forum (WABF), which takes place on November 7th - 8th
- As a registered WABF participant, you are entitled to submit one resume for consideration by participating employers¹
- Employers will then interview preselected candidates at the career fair
- For the first time, this year employers will also set-up booths that will facilitate additional networking opportunities for all WABF participants
- There is no additional cost to participate in the career fair beyond registering for the WABF

¹The career fair is open to all registered conference participants except 1st-year MBA students from all business schools, in accordance with the policies of most schools

Advantages

- Now in its 16th year, the Wharton Africa Business Forum (WABF) is the preeminent business school conference in the world focused on the future of business in Africa
- The conference and career fair offer a fertile platform for networking with distinguished leaders and professionals¹
- Access to prominent firms with business interests in Africa
- There is no additional cost to participate in the career fair beyond registering for the WABF

Key Dates

Action	Start	End
